If you have ever tried to call Monterey Peninsula College for information—especially during registration—you know from experience that your chances of getting through are not good.

Pacific Telephone Company Company suggested the college change its present 375 prefix to a new system which is being developed for the Monterey Peninsula. Beginning Friday, July 19, our new telephone number is:

Monterey Peninsula College
649-1150

Donald K. Young, MPC business manager, said the new number will enable the college to expand its present in-coming and out-going telephone trunks so that more calls can be handled. Coupled with this expansion of the telephone trunks, the college is gearing up for a complete remodeling of its telephone switchboard and switching equipment. "These modifications will help our staff facilitate incoming calls with greater dispatch," Young said.

It will be a Dizzy weekend at the Monterey Jazz Festival this year. John Birks "Dizzy" Gillespie, the mad-cap genius of the trumpet, a perennial favorite at the big annual music event, will appear again this year, but in a new role—he will pop on and off stage in all five Festival concerts.

"We will be giving Dizzy free rein," says Jimmy Lyons, Festival founder and general manager. "Dizzy is so versatile he can play with anyone and at this year's Festival he can do just that."

The Seventeenth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival is scheduled for September 20, 21, 22 on the Monterey County Fairgrounds and Lyons says it will be a Dizzy weekend. Other artists will be announced shortly.

Monterey Junior Golf Tourney Set

The second annual Monterey City Junior Golf Tournament will be held on August 5 & 6 at the Del Monte Golf Course. The Junior Golf Tournament is co-sponsored by the City of Monterey Park & Recreation Department and the Del Monte Golf Course (DMPC). Last year's tournament attracted 78 golfers. This year 100 entries are expected. The tournament is primarily for Monterey Peninsula golfers, but applications will be accepted from other golfers from other cities.

All youngsters who haven't reached their 18th birthday before tee-off are eligible to enter. Entry blanks are available at the Del Monte Pro Shop or at the Monterey Park & Recreation Department at 546 Dutra Street in Monterey. Entries close July 29, 1974.

Trophies will be given for low gross winner and runner-up in all flights.

Fort Ord Roads To Be Closed

Fort Ord's Imjin Road Gate, at Reservation Road and Fritzsche Army Airfield, will be closed for more than two months. The closing is to permit resurfacing of Imjin Road from its beginning near the Post Engineer office and its terminus at the gate.

Traffic between Fort Ord and the airfield is being diverted either by way of the 12th Street Gate at Highway One, or through the East Garrison Gate—which will be open on a 24-hour basis.

The work of resurfacing Imjin Road will be carried out by the Army Corps of Engineers in cooperation with Fort Ord's Directorate of Facilities and Engineering. The engineers envision deepening of some of the road's hilltop cuts, and widening the road—in addition to preparing a deep base for the surface.

During the period the road cannot be used, emergency vehicles, such as ambulances, will be somewhat slowed by the trip through East Garrison or Marina. However, Fritzsche Army Airfield has its own fire fighting equipment, and for other emergencies, such as injuries to airfield workers, the casualty can be quickly airlifted by helicopter to the Silas B. Hays Army Hospital.

Pollution Control Installation Resumed

A program to require installation of oxides of nitrogen controls on 1966-70 automobiles over an 11-month schedule throughout California will be initiated August 1 as a result of action by the State Air Resources Board.

The Board, meeting in San Diego, took the action in response to an opinion filed last month by the California Supreme Court. The Court held that the ARB exceeded its authority when it delayed the mandatory phase of the NOx program one year because of the energy crisis.

Installation of the oxides of nitrogen devices was initiated in Riverside County in February of last year, and was extended statewide April 1, 1974, for automobiles and light duty trucks changing ownership or being brought in from out-of-state. The new schedule approved by the Board will require installation of the devices according to license plate numbers. Vehicles with the last license plate digit of "1" will require installation of a NOx device during August or September, those with a "2" during October, "3" during November, and so forth, through June 1975, when cars with plates ending in zero or letters only will be required to comply.

Approximately 3.8 million 1966-70 vehicles will be subject to the mandatory installations which will be handled by Official Pollution Control Stations—service stations and garages licensed by the Bureau of Automotive Repair, and displaying a Blue Shield.

New Bike Safety Standards Take Effect January 1

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission today announced mandatory Federal safety regulations for bicycles introduced into interstate commerce on or after January 1, 1975.

In a Federal Register notice to be published on July 16, the Commission also proposes a two-year labeling requirement for all bicycles that comply with the new regulations. Bicycles introduced into interstate commerce prior to the effective date may continue to be sold, and a label "Meets U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission Safety Regulations for Bicycles" would assist consumers to distinguish bicycles that meet the standard.

The bicycle regulations, issued under authority of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act, are directed toward eliminating and reducing the severity of thousands of injuries attributed each year to mechanical and structural problems. The bicycle frame, steering system, wheels and brakes will have to meet requirements and tests for safe construction, effectiveness, strength and performance.

Other provisions require protected edges on metal fenders and coverings for protruding bolts, chain guards for bikes that are not freewheeling, locking devices to secure wheel hubs to the bicycle frame, handlebar, seat and stem clamps, and adequate instructions for assembly and maintenance. Wide angle reflectors on front and rear of the bicycle and on the front and rear surfaces of the pedals will improve night visibility. Manufacturers will have the alternative of reflectorized tires or wide angle reflectors mounted on the wheel spokes.

Bicycles rank number one on the Commission's product hazard index. Injury experts state that over one million children and adults are injured each year in bike related accidents. The Commission estimates that in 1973, 419,000 persons sought hospital emergency room treatment for injuries associated with bicycles.

Analysis of injuries in Commission files indicate that about 17 percent are directly attributable to mechanical and structural failures, including brake defects, wheel disengagement, steering, shifting and chain problems. Sixty-three percent are related to loss of control and 10 percent to entanglement of body parts in bike components. Some of these accidents also may be reduced by the new safety regulations.

Many bike injuries are the result of the interaction between the rider, the bicycle and the environment, and the Commission has slated a nationwide bicycle education program to begin this fall to encourage rider education and the proper maintenance and use of bicycles.

For a copy of the bicycle regulations or for a safety fact sheet on bicycles, call the CPSC toll free hotline 800-638-2666. Maryland residents only, call 800-492-2937.

Comments on the proposed labeling requirement should be submitted by August 15 to: The Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., 20207.

Dolan Criticizes Reporter

The Mayor of Seaside, Mayor B.J. Dolan Jr., requested the reassignment of Everett Messick, Monterey Herald Newspaper, reporter covering Seaside activities in a letter addressed to Albert Cross, Managing Editor of the Herald.

The Mayor's letter stated: "Last Friday, July 12, 1974, the undersigned had a frank discussion with Mr. Everett Messick who has completed two years of reporting Seaside activities for your paper. It was indicated to Mr. Messick, that a written request would be transmitted to both Mr. Block and the Addressee.

"This letter is submitted for that purpose. I would be remiss in my duties if I were to fail in bringing this matter to your attention. Since March 12 of '74 it is my considered judgement that Mr. Messick's coverage of Seaside Activities has been something less than 'fair, unbiased, adequate and impartial.' Subsequent to July 12, 1974, I have discovered from several of the community leaders that adverse criticism of Mr. Messick's articles is a rather constant evaluation.

"Mr. Messick's unqualified criticism of Councilman Glen Olea as a 'non-effective or non productive' type council member is also of concern.

"If it matters, something less than a 'welcome-mat' exists for Mr. Messick in Sand City. 'Again I would suggest: and recommend, that in the best interest of Seaside, Mr. Everett Messick be reassigned to another municipality or other duties,' the letter said.

City, County Get State Funds

More than $45.7 million will be released this week to California cities and counties in the July 1974 distribution of local sales and use tax funds, State Board of Equalization Chairman George R. Reilly announced today. The funds represent the second advance payment of the second quarter of 1974.

The bulk of the funds comes from the Bradley-Burns one-percent sales and use tax to cities and counties, with $29.9 million going to cities and $5.1 million going to counties for a total of $35 million.

A total of $8.7 million from the ¼ percent local sales and use tax will be paid to the counties for the county local transportation fund.

The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) will receive $1.9 million from the additional ½ percent sales tax paid in the BART counties of San Francisco, Alameda, and Contra Costa.

The city of Seaside will receive $23,750 as its share of the $29.9 million and the county of Monterey will receive $46,250 Table I plus $91,250 from the ¼ percent county local transportation fund.

Mrs. Woodie, Community Leader, Dies in Salinas

Mrs. Marion Cooper Woodie, 43, well known, liked and respected wife of Richard H. Woodie, of Seaside, died at Community Hospital, Salinas, at 9 a.m. July 19, 1974.

Mrs. Woodie, who had been in failing health for many months, continued to work for the betterment of Seaside. She was an employee of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, where she held the position of Director of the Community School Counselors. She was the founder and president of The Monterey Peninsula Branch of the National Council of Negro Women; the organizer and director of the Seaside Community Choir; a member of the NAACP; Vice President of the Young Adults For Action; Staff Aid of The American Red Cross in Manheim Germany; and Former Co-Chairman of the Parents Advisory Board of the E.S.E.A. committee, High School. She was vice president of the Las Elegante Social Club.

Mrs. Woodie was born August 11, 1930 in Newark, N.J. She was the daughter of Mrs. & Mrs. Clarence C. Cooper, and attended schools in East Orange, N.J. She graduated from East Orange High School.

She married Richard, December 25, 1948 and they made their home in Seaside. She was cited in "Who's Who In The West," 1972-73 Edition.

She leaves her husband,

Richard, five sons, Kenneth, Raymond, Michael, Richard, and David; Her father, Clarence C. Cooper of East Orange, J.J.; a sister, Mrs. Bernice Cooper; a brother, George Cooper, Newark, N.J.; a paternal grandmother, Mrs. Maude Elizabeth Harley, Atlantic Highlands, N.J.; a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Jane Williams, Washington, D.C.; a mother-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Harley Woodie, Atlantic Highlands, N.J. and a host of relatives and friends.

"I have known, worked with, and loved Mrs. Woodie for her community involvements and concern," stated City Councilman Stephen E. Ross. "The community will miss her for many years to come. Citizens, such as she, are few and far in between. My heart felt condolences are offered to the bereaved family, for their loss is indeed Seaside's," he said.

"The community lost an outstanding leader in Mrs. Woodie," Councilman Oscar C. Lawson said, "She will certainly be missed."

These and other glowing remarks began pouring in to the family from all elements of the community.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 22 at Bethel Baptist Church, 398 Elm St., Seaside, under the direction of Rev. L.L. Lusk. The remains lay in state from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Internment was at Mission Memorial Cemetery, Seaside.

"Seaside Loses A Champion"

By Stephen E. Ross
City Councilman
Seaside.

The passing of Mrs. Marion Cooper Woodie is a great loss, not only to the people of Seaside, but to the Monterey Peninsula, and indeed, to mankind.

Few people served their community with the dedication and devotion that Mrs. Woodie did. During my visits with her at the hospital, during her illness, at no time did she mention her obvious pain or concern for herself.

All of her conversation was concerning what she was doing or wanted to do for her community. Her work with the young, and the not so young, was outstanding. She would get out of her sick bed to help young people.

Her work with the Community Crime Abatement Committee, The Seaside Community Choir, the Community School department of Monterey Peninsula Unified School District, and as President of the Monterey Peninsula Branch of the National Council of Negro Women are but a few examples of service to her community.

People of all ages of the Monterey Peninsula, especially Seaside, will miss Mrs. Woodie. (I know I will).

Greatness lies, not in the physical strength that one possess, nor in the length of time that one lives to display such greatness, but in the correct using of the strength and the impact that one makes (for good) upon his or her generation within the time that God lends us that strength—be it great or small; long or short.

I agree with the writer who wrote: "He is the greatest whose strength carries up the most hearts by the attraction of his own."

The husband, and children of Mrs. Woodie can hold their heads high and proclaim that beyond any reasonable shadow of a doubt, "SHE WAS THE GREATEST."

Letters To the Editor

Dear Editor:
Congratulations for some articles well done.
I am referring to the articles pertaining to the Seaside City Council Fe: Rezoning of 1215 Ord Grove from R-3 to R-4.
It seems (in my opinion) that Watergate doesn't pertain to just Washington; it seems rather wide spread. There is no logical reason for anyone in authority to grant this rezoning, except for personal gain.
As for the "Monstrous Apartment" on Circle Way, I personally, had never been notified or asked about it yet it borders with my property and I am very unhappy about it (to say the least.)
It somehow seems that people once in office would rather gratify outsiders than local residence (ts) that elected them. Sad, but true and it sure cripples personal involvement and a city in the long run.
As I am unable to attend the Council meeting, I have however voiced my opinion by letter to the City Council and may God help them to make the right decision tomorrow, (July 18, 1974).

Sincerely,
Gerda F. Short.

Sorry your letter did not arrive early enough to print prior to the meeting, but it seems that the Council did not regard your request. It is most unfortunate when citizens complain have to fall on deaf ears in matters of this sort, but election time will be returning sooner than most of them realizes.

Editor:

I was puzzled by the news release from Congressman Talcott's office (Post — July 3) stating that Talcott has urged Congress to sponsor additional legislation for the aged, because 21 million senior citizens were deprived of the opportunity to have their interests represented in the House. Is it possible that there are two Congressmen named Burt Talcott? The one I have been reading about for several years has a great track record in spending (or throwing away) public tax money on such things as the still on-going war in Asia which recent estimates state will eventually cost us one trillion (not billion) dollars. That is a thousand billions, and it seems to me that we could have done quite a lot for our senior citizens using that money here in America instead of supporting a corrupt dictatorship in Asia.
Now we have this other Talcott who seems to be concerned about senior citizens, now that all the money has been thrown away. Would the real Congressmen Talcott please stand up so we will know which one he is?

Safeway Announces New Pricing Policy

Safeway Stores, Incorporated, recently announced that when forced to raise retail prices, it would not do so on price-marked items of merchandise, and any items marked with more than one price would be sold at the lowest price marked.

Vice President and Division Manager Eldon Starkey stated: "While in normal times price increases and decreases tend to balance out, increases are currently exceeding decreases and this program reflects our recognition of the concern caused by this abnormal situation. This is a continuation of our efforts to assist our customers whenever possible, and joins other existing programs designed to meet this objective, such as standardized meat labeling, nutritional labeling, open dating and unit pricing."

Starkey added, "The change-over, which we have started, will be completed in the San Francisco Division by next Sunday. Meanwhile, we would like to assure our customers that if two prices are marked on a package or can, they will be charged the lower price."

Safeway has previously tested this program in its Canadian stores and will implement it throughout all Safeway stores in the United States within the next few weeks.

The San Francisco Division has stores in Northern California and Hawaii in which prices of some items are controlled under fair trade laws or by other state laws such as retail milk prices set by state law. Where this occurs, these items are excluded from this program. The program will include the following pricing policy:

1. When we are forced to make a price increase, cans and packages which are already price-marked will be sold out at the old price.

2. When a price is lowered, all sales will be at the new lower price, including all cans and packages marked with the former higher price.

3. When a can or package shows more than one price mark, you pay the lowest price.

Today's Army NEWS By SFC Jose Garcia ARMY RECRUITER

CAREER OUTLOOK ON RADIOTELETYPE OPERATORS

TODAY'S ARMY is offering young men and women an opportunity to break into the aviation industry as radioteletype operators. Radioteletype operators transmit highly important weather and flight information from ground to flight crews. Radio operators use radiotelephone to send and receive messages. Teletypists operate teletype machines to transmit written messages between ground personnel. Competition in the field is keen. The experience and quality of training a young person has received will have a direct bearing on his success in finding employment.

TODAY'S ARMY offers some of the finest instruction available for radioteletype operators.

During the 11 weeks of intensive training at the U.S. Army Signal School at Fort Gordon, Georgia, radioteletype operators learn how to install, operate and maintain field radioteletypewriter sets and related equipment. Army operators erect antennas, install power generators and make connections between equipment components. They also receive and process incoming teletype and tape relay messages.

Some operators serve as principal non-commissioned officers of a company engaged in radio operations and this management experience can be of tremendous value for those seeking supervisory positions in the civilian job markets.

High school graduates interested in becoming radioteletype operators in TODAY'S ARMY are also eligible for a $1,500 cash bonus upon successful completion of their training.

Further information is available from us at 431 Webster St in Monterey or call us at 373-4742.

Our most recent new members of TODAY'S ARMY team include Clarence F. Lints from Marina, Michael R. Hill, and Lea A. Kittok from Fort Ord. Monterey was represented by Thomas Juarez, Daniel Olson and William Davis. All enlisted for a specific program after all qualifications were met. I know our POST readers join me in wishing them the best of luck in their choice of career.

Statewide Assessments Increase

The statewide average assessment level for the various counties of California has increased from 23.8 percent for 1973 to 24.1 percent for 1974. This was reflected in statistics released recently by State Board of Equalization Chairman George R. Reilly.

The average local property assessment level in Monterey County stands at 23.6 percent of market value.

Noting that all 58 county assessors have declared that they are assessing at 25 percent of market value as required by law. Reilly explained the seeming difference.

The county assessor is, in fact, assessing at 25 percent of his latest estimates of market value. But all of his appraisals may not be 1974 values. The county assessor may be basing many of his assessments on appraisals made two or three years earlier because of lack of staff to revalue all property every year. The Board's figures represent the relationship between the counties' total locally assessed values and the Board's estimates of the respective market values of locally assessable property as of the current year.

Another area of difference is in business equipment and inventories. The assessor must base his assessments initially on unaudited property statements, and no assessor has enough staff to audit all accounts within the four-year statute of limitations. The Board's appraisals of properties of this type are based on current audits in all instances.

To reach its figures, the Board's statisticians use carefully designed "random stratified samples" in which five to six thousand properties are appraised each year in one-third of the counties. The total market values derived from these samples are then adjusted to the current year by reference to economic indices and various data supplied by county officials.

The significance of the figures is that a county's assessment ratio is the key to a number of programs involving over $1.7 billion in state aid to local governments, payments by local governments to the State, and payments by counties to school districts. The ratios are also used to calculate assessed values of properties appealed to the boards of equalization or assessment appeals boards in certain counties, to adjust tax rates of some intercounty districts, and for other purposes.

State aid is distributed to school districts with relatively low taxable wealth per child. The Board's ratio for a county is used together with a school district's assessed value to compute a district's taxable wealth. School district repayments of state loans and their debt limits are also established by formulas which involve these ratios.

Bank Begins Recycling Project

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18, 1974—An annual report printed on old Bank of America deposit slips? Paper towels made of recycled signature cards? BankAmericard statement envelopes composed of obsolete computer printouts?

All are possibilities of the near future.

Bank of America has initiated what could become one of California's largest paper recycling projects involving nearly 3,000,000 pounds of waste paper each year. Old bank records, which previously had been shredded and destroyed, are now being pulverized and recycled.

"It started with a storage problem in our two records warehouses -- one in Northern California and the other in the South," says A.R. Zipf, executive vice president and senior administrative officer of the bank. "We began by reducing the number of years old records were retained in storage."

Michael G. Cahill, a senior methods analyst assigned to remove these records, says this immediately left the bank with 2,000,000 pounds of waste paper in its warehouses. "We still don't know how much more is in our community offices throughout the state," Cahill adds.

While disposing of the backlog, Cahill estimates that about 6,000,000 pounds of paper a year might be recycled. Later, he thinks the annual phaseout of retired items would diminish to around 3,000,000 pounds a year.

This recycling project started in May at the bank's Orange County warehouse, where about 1,400,000 pounds of waste paper are being processed. In the North, at the bank's Dublin, Calif., warehouse, some 600,000 pounds of waste paper will be recycled. Both of these efforts will be completed in August.

After that, Cahill says, a system will be worked out for recycling old records from the bank's statewide network of 1,029 offices.

Since printing its 1970 annual report on recycled paper stock, the bank has pioneered in recycling and in using recycled paper. It issued a special report on recycling in 1971. It also participates in the San Francisco Bay Area Paper Recycling Project, which recently won an award from Environment Monthly magazine.

The bank uses recycled paper for forms, envelopes, letterhead and paper stock for bank publications. Since 1970, the bank has printed its annual report on recycled paper stock. The 1973 report is a 44-page booklet with a color cover and an eight-page color photographic essay. The bank printed 350,000 copies for its stockholders and other interested persons.

MPC Offering Women's Studies

"Women's Studies" is a growing program at Monterey Peninsula College which reaches into the world and into the self to explore the experience of what it is to be a person who is a woman.

"Whether they draw upon literature, psychology or culture, the common purpose of the program is to develop a recognition and understanding of the ways women are seen and the ways they see themselves," said Dr. Sharon Coniglio, chairperson of the MPC Women's Committee.

The Committee has developed five courses and will continue to explore possibilities for new courses and programs. Courses for the fall semester are:

-Interdisciplinary Studies 195, Exploring Self: A Core Course for Women. It is a new course which gives women an opportunity to become involved in physical movement activities, to discuss these activities as a basis for exploring the psychology of women and finally to communicate their thoughts and feelings in writing.

-Humanities 195, Images of Women in American Culture. A new course which examines the images of women in television, movies, art and fiction and asks women to consider the impact of these images upon their sense of self.

-Ethnic Studies 195, Afro-American Women in Literature. A new course which focuses upon the special consciousness of black women authors.

-English 102, Literature By and About Women. Centers upon what is feminine or feminist about the perception and vision of life presented in this literature.

-Physical Education 125, Women in Motion. Provides the opportunity for women to experience success in physical-movement activities.

For more information about these and other courses call Dr. Coniglio at 649-1150, Ext. 402.

Haddad Explains
History of Seaside Hotel

In an exclusive interview
with former Mayor Lou Haddad, the Post learned the background and history of the proposed Seaside beach hotel.
In answer to direct questioning, Haddad stated that he had explained to the Seaside Council at their meeting held last Thursday night his version of how Bostland Corporation entered into a contract with the city.
He provided us with the text of his presentation to the city fathers and we print it in its entirety for the benefit of our subscribers:

"In 1967, during a period
when Seaside was experiencing racial inrest, city
officials were leaving no stone turned in their quest for additional revenues to meet the demands of the people for better services. The city's revenues were about half what they are now. Gateway was going slowly, if at all. People had quit coming to Seaside to shop. The only real source of revenue was the property tax."

"It was felt at that time that the poor home-owners of Seaside could not stand
another raise in their taxes.
Olympia Corporation,
developers of Olympia Plaza Shopping Center came to Seaside with a plan which would bring an additional $100,000 per year in revenue to the city treasury. Their proposal included a swap
of the beach which they owned for some paper streets near the beach which the city owned. They planned to build a hotel on about 4.5 acres of contiguous land."

"The city council approved
a subsequent application
subject to the condition that the city retains a 60 foot fight-of-way for public access to the beach."

"Now the city owns the beach. It doesn't get much use, but some day in the future
it may. And when that time arrives, Seaside will have provided for its citizens."

"Now years after the city has entered into an irrevocable agreement with the owners of the property,
well-intentioned but uninformed citizens have become aroused at the possibility of development. I too am included in the masses of people who desire to save open space.

I was involved in the original agreement with Bostland, and I can assure you that I spent many sleepless nights ascertaining for myself which course to follow that would be in the best interests of Seaside. On the one hand, the conservationist in me said that we should preserve at all costs that heritage which was handed down to us by the early settlers in the area. On the other hand my obligations to the people who elected me dictated that we should increase the city's income in order that better services could be provided. In addition, members of the Council felt that the city could control the height and insure that any construction would be less obnoxious than other developments which have been allowed to be build on the beach in Monterey. (The city turned down an application for an eight story structure
recently, and the developers have scaled down the new version to only two stories,
half the height of the Holiday Inn). The additional revenues to be realized was approximately 5 percent of our total revenues at that time."

"Seaside has had a history of pulling itself up by the bootstraps, without the aid of adjoining cities; and in fact

and in some cases, opposition to whatever progress we achieved was voiced. The Gateway Project had opposition. The Laguna Grande Project and K-Mart is still receiving criticism. Redevelopment was strongly criticized, and yet I can tell you that as a result of these projects, Seaside has doubled its revenues and has vastly improved its services to the people. These along with the annexation of Ft. Ord have contributed to lessening the burden on the property tax. I can tell you that if these increases in revenues had not come about, and if the city
wishes to maintain the present level of services, the property tax would be three times as high as it is now."

"Which brings us to today and tomorrow. The city is presently in the middle of salary negotiations for city employees. Cost of government continues to skyrocket.
To provide your constituents
with the level of services which are demanded these days, as you as elected officials are confronted with the problem of paying for them.
The certain end to federal revenue saring (from which the city receives some $300,000 annually) compounds your dilemma. Where are the funds going to come from? Are you going to raise the Seaside tax rate 50 percent to make up the deficits?"

"If previous city councils had not had the foresight to provide this council with the revenues the city receives at the present time, where would
the city be now?"

"Well-intentioned people
here tonight protest the hotel development. Many people oppose beach development, as do I. But you are faced with

Shop Around For Car Financing

The California Department of Consumer Affairs reminds consumers that it's in their interest to shop around for financing when purchasing a car. Finance charges can vary from as low as 5 percent (borrowed against a life insurance policy) to an annual rate of 24 percent from some lenders.

In comparing costs, the figure to check is the annual percentage rate—the standard figure for stating interest charges on installment and other loans which lenders are required to disclose under the Federal truth-in-lending law. Under California law, car dealers can't charge over 1 percent a month on the unpaid balance (12 percent annually), if the auto is sold on a contract-of-sale rather than a purchase made with cash from a loan obtained elsewhere.

Find out if you're expected to pay for credit life insurance (which pays off the loan in the event of death); whether car insurance is included (you might get it cheaper elsewhere); and if there are any additional charges (such as a fee for a credit investigation or a charge if you pay the loan off ahead of schedule).

The cheapest way of course is to pay cash, although you do lose interest on your savings.

Tax Assistance Payments Mailed

The first 1974-75 Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance payments have been mailed to 141,220 claimants who will share $23,459,000, but many eligible older homeowners appear to be overlooking their reimbursements, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said today.

"Each year many fail to file for a variety of reasons, but this year, for the first time, older homeowners who receive public assistance are eligible for this benefit and the number of claims from this group is not running up to expectations," Flournoy said.

"Early filing is particularly important this year since the law now sets August 31 as the deadline for these claims. Formerly claimants had until October 15 to file."

The filing season began May 16 and claim forms were mailed to persons who filed claims last year, as well as individuals who have requested forms, Flournoy said. The law provides for a reimbursement of up to 96 percent of property taxes paid, depending upon the income of the individual.

"Any homeowner-occupant in California who reached age 62 by last January 1 and whose household income isn't over $10,000 owes it to himself and his family to obtain complete information from the State Franchise Tax Board if he has not done so already," Flournoy said.

The first groups of payments this year averaged over $165 each as compared to an average of $201 last year.

"This drop in average payment possibly reflects the influence of the enlarged Homeowners Property Tax Exemption on property tax bills in general, but it still is a substantial level of tax relief for those who must maintain their homes on fixed or limited incomes," Flournoy said.
